

Henry Poor Promotes LBM Careers

Today there is a shortage of skilled workers in the Lumber and Building Materials and construction trades industries. These jobs pay well, are fun to work in, and have abundant opportunities for career growth.

Henry Poor Lumber is using resources provided by the Midwest Building Suppliers Association to encourage more young people to consider careers in the LBM field. To learn more about careers in this industry go to LBM Careers.

Henry Poor Lumber and Flooring Express also recently took part in a career expo held at Ivy Tech and organized by the Builders Association of Greater Lafayette.

There are various roles in the building materials industry for anyone willing to work hard and be responsible. These include Sales Specialist, Kitchen and Bath Designer, Building Component Designer, Material Estimator, Carpenter, and Truck Driver.

We'd encourage you to learn about construction careers and training opportunities now emerging in our state. Build Your Future Indiana's goal is to help Indiana residents qualify for and get jobs in these high-demand occupations. To learn more go to Build Your Future Indiana.

Henry Poor Lumber and Flooring Express are always looking for talented, hardworking individuals. If you have the desire to learn and work hard go to our Careers webpage and fill out our employment application.

Great career opportunities are available.

Hitting the Links for Good Causes

Summer is the time for golf outings that pull our community together to support a range of important and charitable causes.

Make A Wish outing participants (L-R) Jayson Benner, Nick Watkins, Chuck Mooney and Cole Knecht.

Several Henry Poor Lumber and Flooring Express team members have taken part in different golf outings. Along with the fun with customers, they have also supported local causes including Make A Wish, Howard County Home Builders Association, Greater Lafayette Commerce and other charity outings.

At the GLC outing we set up a table for some of the students attending the Crossing School location at HP Wood Packaging where they had a chance to tell their story to all the outing participants.

COREtec Flooring Just Keeps Getting Better

COREtec was the first to develop engineered vinyl flooring and continues to lead the industry in creating realistic hardwood and tile designs, while improving the durability and ease of care for their products.

COREtec planks won't warp or buckle no matter how wet they get. In other words, they can handle a lot more than daily spills and muddy footprints.

Flooring Express offers the original Coretec Luxury Vinyl Tile and COREtec Plus, the enhanced LVT that works well for both residential homes and commercial offices. These products are 100% waterproof, easily install over existing hard surface floors, are stain and fade resistant, and are Green Guard Gold certified for indoor air quality.
